A music-based arcade puzzle game where the gameplay is centered around fighting black holes and solving exotic routes; in which the player takes on the role of an astronaut caught in this black hole. You have to save your broken space capsule, but in the process you are trapped inside a black hole. At first you can't see anything, so you have to take everything you know about space, your hands and possibly your brain, to avoid being devoured by this invisible monster. As you progress through different levels, the player will be given a new tool with which to combat the black hole, called the Space Life Gear, which you can use to repair your space capsule. Even if you are blacked out and have lost all your memories, you will know how to defeat this dangerous enemy. In order to survive you will also have to use intuition and creativity to solve the puzzles that are given in every room in order to find a way out of the black hole. During the flight there are many space-related animations that show the player's actions and trajectory, and the various tools. I’ve had an idea similar to this for a while now. In the past I’ve tried to make a game in which the player is trapped inside a black hole. The game would be all about fighting the black hole and escaping. The main difference between this and the other ideas I’ve tried is the fact that I’m not just trying to create a black hole simulator. I’m creating a game which involves navigating through space and deals with lots of other themes: life, mysteries, etc. I think this is going to be a very interesting game, a combination of many different elements which I think has never been explored in a similar way. I’m very happy with how it’s going so far. The game is on Steam, and it’s currently in Alpha. If you want to check out the game, you can find it here: Features: �

Steam: Amazon: Alternatively, you can also listen to a Spotify playlist containing all the tracks I have created here: Out of the fourteen tracks composed for the soundtrack of the game, nine are from my nature-themed tracks. Some of the tracks take inspirations from the tracks I composed for the song "NaCl586.Music" in my Youtube channel. This is a link to the song in my Youtube channel: Track:1, "The Most Beautiful Earth" "The Most Beautiful Earth" is composed as a tribute to the Earth. Firstly, I hope all the humans who are living on the earth can celebrate Earth Day on April 22, and everyone can be a part of it in the most way possible. Secondly, I hope all the beings in other planets, stars, and universes will also be a part of Earth Day. This game's main theme is that we should be kind to each other, respect others, and take care of the environment. We should also remember to care for the natural world around us. Maybe you don't believe me if you don't understand English, but I really mean it. Lastly, maybe this is just a hopeful dream, but the environment should be preserved for future generations, so that we can still enjoy everything we have in this world. Track:2, "Green World" This track is a mixture of the tracks I composed for the "NaCl586.Music" song in my Youtube channel and the tracks I compose for the soundtrack of "Great Marble Adventure" game, and is a tribute to the environment. The track is more of an electronic track, with the elements of rock, pop, and bossa nova. I hope you like it. Track:3, "Flowers in Your Tears" This track is also composed with the same inspiration from the tracks I composed for the "NaCl586.Music" song in my Youtube channel. It is a tribute to the environment, which has the power to heal your soul, and that environment should

When Buuri received the spark it made everything better, now the spirit was finally free. The yokai’s half-dead body began to rise up and just as the beast exploded into a million tiny pieces it gave off a warm glowing light. It turned into tiny motes of light that drifted around the room like glowing dust, and all those trapped emotions of anger, loneliness, and bitterness turned into white light, and everything else in the room turned the white light into a yokai that was just as much stronger then before. When it was strong enough he summoned a kumadezu to engulf the room. With one last burst of negative energy he threw it away, for now he only cared about Rachel. Yutaka stood up and bowed to Buuri before leaving to look for Rachel, his mom, Akane, and the others. The others were still locked in a state of shock from the power of the yokai and the spark. “Rachel!” Yutaka’s call was echoed by his mother’s pained cry. She ran out of the room calling for him to stop running away from her. “Yutaka, don’t go..” Rachel was up on her knees staring up at the raging yokai. It rolled back and forth, hit her with force, sent her tumbling to the ground to get up close to it, hefted her into its arms, the burned skin on its surface cracking as it broke the skin, and tossed her directly into the kumadezu. She slid down into the sphere and felt her body bend back and forth while she screamed in pain. She looked around in the swirling noise and she could not see her legs or arms. All she could see was white as she watched her own screams echo around her. Then a figure began to appear as it slammed the trapped emotions from inside of her and turned them into light. As the light of every negative emotion began to shine brighter she found it. It was her dress, her hair, her jewelry, her hairpin. She could feel the delicate lace brushing against her cheek, as she looked at herself through half-closed eyelids she could see her head wrapped in a silky red ribbon, and around her neck she could feel the
